EVERYMAN'S PSYCHOLOGY

UPSTAIRS AND DOWNSTAIRS

(By FATHER G. BYRNE S.J.)

Last week we touched briefly on some phases in the development of the "New Psychology" or to be more correct, of the "New Psychologies." Amongst them Psycho-analysis seems to have most captured the popular mind. We intend to make a brief appraisal of psycho-analysis, but before doing so, we offer our readers the following brief resume in very intelligible language from Mr. Joad's Guide to Modern Thought, p. 192 etc.

Common to all psycho-analytic theories is the view that the greater part of the human mind is unconscious. The human personality is like an iceberg; only a small part appears above the level of consciousness, the remainder is below. This remainder, known as the unconscious mind, or more simply as the unconscious, is not only the larger but also the more important part. The part which appears in consciousness is usually held to have arrived in consciousness via the unconscious in which it originated, so that the unconscious may be said to determine the contents of the conscious. The conscious part of the human being is not, therefore, the part that matters, since its contents and its workings are the expression of forces deep down within ourselves, whose genesis normally escapes detection and whose workings evade control. To discover and explore these hidden trends of the unconscious is the main object of psycho-analysis.

So far most psycho-analysts would agree. Differences appear, however, in regard to the character of these unconscious forces, the extent to which they determine consciousness, and the proper technique for discovering and dealing with them. I propose briefly to outline two divergent accounts which have obtained wide currency. That of Freud and that of Adler.

Theories of Freud.

Freud's general view requires us to conceive of the self after the model of two families dwelling upon different floors of the same house. The family on the first floor, which is the abode of the conscious self, are respectable, orderly, law-abiding folk, whose object is to keep themselves to themselves, to stand well with their neighbours and to preserve unscathed from the world their reputation for respectability. The ground floor, the unconscious, is occupied by a much larger family of a disreputable character. Many of its members belonged at one time to the first-floor family, but were dismissed as being unfit for its society and like fallen angels sent to dwell in the dungeons below. They are primitive, passionate and intensely selfish. Their one preoccupation is the gratification of their desires, which are predominantly sexual, and, the more effectively to achieve this end, they endeavour to return to the first floor, where they hope to secure wider scope and more publicity. This endeavour is regarded with consternation by the first-floor family, who, in their anxiety to keep themselves to themselves, have hired a sort of policeman and planted him on the staircase to guard the approach to the door. This policeman is called the censor. It is his business to prevent any of the unruly elements in the unconscious, of which the conscious self would feel ashamed, from obtaining access to the conscious. Sometimes he is successful in his attempt and the primitive unconscious desire is kept under. Sometimes, however, he is unable completely to bar the way, and the unconscious desire succeeds in making its way up and appearing in the conscious. In this latter event, however, the censor usually manages to purify the unconscious desire in the course of transit, so that, if an inhabitant of the ground floor does manage to elevate himself on to the first floor he has to submit, as it were, to a process of being cleaned up and made respectable en route. This process of purifying unconscious elements which subsequently appear in consciousness is known as 'sublimation.' Sublimation will entirely change the apparent character of a desire which has undergone the sublimating process, so that an unconscious desire to elope with your next-door neighbour's wife may appear in consciousness as a sudden aversion from pickled onions.

A Complex.

Unconscious desires which suffer from continuous repression by the censor, finding their natural channel of expression in the conscious obstructed, are turned back upon themselves and like a river which has been dammed, form a kind of swamp in the unconscious which is called a complex. This complex gives rise to hysteria, nervousness, and in extreme cases to obsessions and neuroses, and the psycho-analyst claims that by the mere process of bringing the complex to light and so drawing off, as it were, the stagnant accumulations formed by repressed desires, he is able to cure the nervous troubles which are so common in modern society. Freud often writes: "As if all the contents of consciousness at any given moment consisted of more or less sublimated versions of elements in the unconscious." This applies not only to the emotional and passionate elements of our nature, our desires, wishes, aversions and hopes, but also to our beliefs and thoughts. A man's tastes in art or beliefs about religion are on this view just as much determined by trends of his unconscious self as his taste in female beauty or his beliefs about his own character.

CHINESE EASTERN RAILWAY

MANCHUKUO PREPARED TO PAY 50 MILLION YEN

Tokyo, Aug. 9.

During a heated seven-hour conversation with the Soviet delegate, M. Kozlovsky, yesterday afternoon, the Manchukuo representative, Mr. Ohashi, emphasised the fact that fifty million yen was the maximum sum Manchukuo was prepared to pay for Soviet's share of the Chinese Eastern Railway.

M. Kozlovsky asked whether Manchukuo could increase the offer and Mr. Ohashi replied that he must refer the matter to Changchun but said if no higher bid was authorised, he might be compelled to suggest breaking off the Conference as there would be no amicable settlement in view.

M. Kozlovsky asked for the continuance of private conversations which will accordingly be resumed on Saturday when, it is possible, the thorny question of the rate of exchange between the rouble and the yen, will be taken up.—Reuter.

LAND HOLDINGS IN CHINA

FOREIGN MISSIONS MAY ACQUIRE PERPETUAL LEASE

The existing practice and regulations concluded by the Chinese Government with foreign Powers impose no restrictions on the period of lease of land or buildings in the interior provinces by foreign missions in China which may, according to these treaties and regulations, acquire even perpetual lease of lands or buildings in the interior, according to a ruling contained in an order of the Executive Yuan.

In a circular order issued by the same Yuan to the various Provincial and Municipal Governments, a ruling was set forth that with the exception of foreign religious mission, no foreign nationals or corporations in China may lease land in the interior provinces of the country.

Smile Awhile

"H'm! I don't like the look of your wife Mr. Blunt," said the doctor, after he had examined the patient.

"Neither do I," answered Blunt, "but she's a good wife, and looks after the children and the house well—so I can't grumble, I suppose."

WHY YOU SHOULD BRUSH YOUR HAIR

Brushing has no effect on the growth of the hair. It does, however, improve its appearance enormously by keeping it free from dust. On the other hand, dry, brittle hair should not be brushed too much or too vigorously, because this breaks off the hairs.

The most important thing about hair-brushing is that it should be done with a clean brush. Keep two hair-brushes, and wash these once or twice a week in soapy water to which a little cloudy ammonia has been added. Your hair will always look well-groomed if it gets regular brushing with spotlessly clean brushes.

THE COCKTAIL HOUR

Admiral.

Nothing under a two-striper rated this one, and after two rounds you would all feel like Admirals anyway. An excellent way to celebrate when the fleet's in or when the fleet's out, or when the fleet's sunk. Anyway, an excellent way to celebrate.

Two lumps of ice, juice of one lime, two bar-spoons of powdered sugar, one bar-spoon of cherry cordial. Two ounces of Booth's gin stir with spoon, and serve.

BRAZIL NUT TOFFEE

Put one pound of Demerara sugar into a saucepan with a quarter of a pint of cold water, stand it over low heat, let the sugar melt, then boil the syrup slowly for twenty minutes. If you put an asbestos mat under the pan, you can leave the toffee to boil slowly, and it will not burn. If you have no mat, you must watch it.

Take a piece of butter the size of an egg, cut it into small pieces, drop these into the syrup, stir gently, and boil till a little toffee tried in cold water hardens at once.

QUEEN CAKES

Ingredients.—2 level tea-cups flour—8 ozs., 1 level tea-cup castor sugar—4 ozs., butter, size of 2 large eggs—4 ozs., 1 full tea-spoon baking powder, milk, if required, 2 large eggs, pinch salt.

Method.—See that the oven is heated before beginning to make the mixture. Have ready greased, a dozen small patty tins. (Any mixture left over should be baked in one small greased cake tin). Beat together the butter and castor sugar. Sieve on to a plate the flour and salt. Add a table-spoon of the sieved flour, then before beating at all, add an egg, and cover with another table-spoon of flour. Beat for five minutes, then repeat, using the second egg. Repeat, using a table-spoon of milk instead of an egg. With the last table-spoon of flour mix in the baking powder. The mixture should be stiff enough to drop heavily off the spoon. At once, half fill the patty tins, knock each one sharply on the table, to settle the mixture. Place on a tray, and bake in a quick oven for 20 minutes. When well risen, and firm to the touch take the tray from the oven, let the cakes stand for a moment to shrink, then turn out on to a sieve or folded towel. Cool out of a draught, and when cold, keep in an air tight box.

A FEW TIMELY HINTS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Gravy spots on a clean linen cloth can be dealt with by rubbing with French Chalk. Leave the chalk on for a few hours, by which time the spots will have absorbed into the chalk and the cloth will be perfectly clean.

Grass Stains can often be removed from white material by sponging them with Amopina and water.

Stains on fingers from peeling apples, onions or other fruits can be removed by rubbing with a crust of bread dipped in vinegar. Wash afterwards in warm water.

If you are thinking of retelling that kitchen, or verandah or in fact renovating any part of the house, call up the Chinese National Electric Pottery Co., 27462 for estimates. Incidentally they did all the Mosaic Work in the new "China Emporium."

To store blankets after they have been cleaned etc., place pieces of yellow soap between the folds and wrap in newspaper. Moths will not go near blankets stored in this way. Always be sure they are cleaned first. The Steam Laundry does an excellent job and very reasonable too.

For these very hot days one needs an Electric fan or two around the house. There are so many firms handling these around town and the prices are so very cheap. Saw some dandy ones at the General (Continued at foot of next col.)

IDEAS ABOUT FRYING

c. You can prevent fat from spluttering when frying by sprinkling a little salt into the frying-pan before putting in the fat.

Food that is to be fried will inevitably taste greasy unless it is put into fat that is sufficiently hot. To be sure of correct heat, wait until all bubbling ceases and a faint blue smoke arises before putting anything into the frying-pan.

Potatoes or fish should be thoroughly dried before placing in frying-pan. This will avoid the splutter and possibility of fire which might arise if fish or potatoes were put in while wet.

Meat, fish and rissoles, if not given a coating of batter, should be dipped in flour or dried ground breadcrumbs before frying.

CLEANING WOODWORK

To clean kitchen walls and woodwork thinly coated by grease from stove fumes, use a gallon of warm soap suds to which a table-spoon of kerosene has been added. Wash a small space at a time and then rinse with warm water and wipe dry at once. A sponge or soft cloth is suggested to use for washing and a soft lintless cloth for wiping. If the housewife has the kitchen gone over once a month in this way, she will save much time as the dirt is easily removed.

THE CAKE-MAKER

A FOOLPROOF FORMULA

Those who go to the kitchen to make cakes may be divided into two categories—those who know and take it as a matter of course and those who do not know and regard it as one of the inner mysteries. As a matter of fact, cake may be reduced to one or two principles, which, if adhered to, have the misfortune to destroy the mystery but the advantage of making cake not only plentiful but good. There is, for instance, a foundation formula for a good cake, which also serves for two or three kinds of pudding. Butter, eggs, flour, and sugar, with variations as to any liquid additions, are the cardinal points of a good cake from which deviations may be made according to taste. And butter, eggs, flour, and sugar in equal weights offer an almost foolproof recipe, of which the only danger lies in the quality of the oven.

With the new ovens which can be set to a temperature, a good time to bake a cake is after cooking a joint. The oven is then well heated—much better heated than by means of the regulation twenty minutes—and it can be set at four and left life that for about an hour and a half to produce a perfect cake off its own bat. If it is without the convenience of a temperature gauge, it can still be used after it has cooked a joint suitably, for the first ten minutes as it is, and then turned down to a moderate, but not too cold temperature. With sponge-cakes, the case is rather different. Sponge-cakes depend very much upon the length of the beating they get. And twenty minutes feels a long time when it is occupied with continuous beating. Even so, it can be endured, and eggs and beating and heating and eggs really make the sponge-cake without much other difficulty. A home-made cake becomes so little of a mystery with so much ease that it is remarkable not to find it more often upon the tea-table.

Some facts about Baby's milk that every mother
should know

THE purity of the dairy milk used in Baby's diet is of vital importance—but consistent quality is important too. Dairy milk varies in composition according to the district in which it is produced and milk that varies is not good for Baby's digestion. Devonshire milk is richest in the nourishing elements that Baby needs.

That is why "Ambrosia" is such a blessing. It is Devonshire milk exclusively, purified and dried in Devonshire itself as soon as it comes from the cows, by a unique process that retains the important vitamins. The quality of "Ambrosia" never varies and it is many times purer and more digestible than any liquid milk you can buy. For these reasons "Ambrosia" is extensively used and recommended by Hospitals, Clinics and Doctors. It is the ideal Milk Food for Expectant Mothers, Nursing Mothers and Infant feeding.

NEW GAS MANTLES

Lift your new gas mantle carefully from the box and soak it in a glass of vinegar, then hang it up to dry before putting it on the burner. When you have burnt it off in the usual way, you will find the light far brighter. If you tie a piece of cotton to one of the feet of the mantle, it will simplify the matter of dipping in and out of the vinegar, and can also be used for hanging up to dry.

Lemon for Tar Stains. A simple home remedy for tar stains on the hands when turpentine is not available is the use of lemon peel. The oil in the peel quickly loosens the tar, making its subsequent removal with soap and water an easy matter.

UNUSUAL STRAIN

By A PHYSICIAN

Holiday time, with its opportunities for unaccustomed exercise, inevitably brings its crop of minor injuries.

Those who are used to walking on hard, flat surfaces subject their untrained joints to all kinds of stresses and strains, and they cannot be expected to stand up to this unusual treatment.

The city worker who never climbs anything higher than a bus step must not expect too much when attempting a country ramble.

The human body is exceedingly adaptable, but although it is a fact that the more you give it to do the more easily will it perform the task, it must not be forgotten that the opposite also holds good.

The less use you make of your limbs or your heart, the less will they do. They will gradually accommodate themselves to the amount of work expected of them.

Dealing With Blemishes

Too many complexions which might be clear and pleasing to the eye are spoiled by spots, pimples, and blackheads. These are not always easy to avoid, especially in the young. When girls are approaching their seventeenth year, they seem to be special victims of these unpleasant disfigurements. Often they become a very real misery to the sufferer, who feels galled from social pleasure—a dreadful deprivation to the young! Boils, spots and pimples occur only in a person who is run down, and the wisest thing to do is to take a good strong tonic, get plenty of rest, and plenty of fresh air and exercise, and eat plain wholesome food. A boil should not be lanced until the matter has reached a softening stage. Even then only a small opening should be made right in the centre. But in nearly every case it is best to let your doctor do this.

Contrary to popular opinion, boils should never be poulticed, for this spreads the germs which have caused the boil, and make the surrounding skin very sensitive and the boils come again and often spread to other places.

An ordinary piece of strapping or plaster will often prevent a boil if it is applied early enough, and some skin specialists recommend the taking of a teaspoonful to a tablespoonful of quite fresh brewer's yeast. Or, if preferred, this can be taken in tablet form.

Wash often and freely with a good antiseptic soap, rinse well, dry carefully and dab on an antiseptic lotion, taking care to use a clean pad of cotton-wool each time.

One is often asked whether harm is done to the skin by face creams and powders. There can be no harm in the ordinary preparations provided they are thoroughly cleaned off the skin at night. Avoid soap that is too strong, and do not allow any to remain on the face too long.

Yeast is amongst one of the best things for the complexion and can be taken in a pleasant drink which can be had at the Dairy Farm soda fountain at 13 Queen's Road. It is called "Yeast Vite."

GRAND-DAUGHTER FOR SIR G. DU MAURIER

It was announced yesterday that Sir Gerald du Maurier's second daughter, Daphne, wife of Major F. A. M. Browning, gave birth to a daughter on Saturday at their home, Cannon Hall Cottage, Hampstead. Miss Du Maurier married Major Browning in July last year, and they live in a Georgian house adjoining Sir Gerald's garden.

Major Browning, who is in the Grenadier Guards, is a well-known athlete. Mrs. Browning, under her maiden name, wrote a successful novel, "I'll Never be Young Again," which was banned in the Irish Free State.

QUICK RELIEF FROM PAIN and HEADACHES

Pain is no respecter of persons. Pain is a cheat.

It nags at your nerves and wears you down. It robs millions of happiness and contentment.

Pain attacks come suddenly in many forms. There are Head Pains—Rheumatic Pains—Nerve Pains—Headache—Toothache—Earache—Sciatic

Pains, etc. In minor cases of pain, take two or three "ASPRO" Tablets and that is usually the end of the attack. In major cases of pain, take "ASPRO" according to the instructions in the packet. "ASPRO" is the greatest antidote for pain yet introduced to the world. It is the easiest, quickest and most effective method of obtaining relief without harming the heart or stomach.

'ASPRO'

Does Not Harm the Heart

Why 'ASPRO' Succeeds Where Ordinary 'ASPIRIN' Fails

There is a lot of confused thought regarding "ASPRO" and Aspirin. The wonderful therapeutic value of "ASPRO" as compared with crude Aspirin is so pronounced and causes so much enquiry as to why "ASPRO" succeeds where ordinary Aspirin fails, that we propose to put the matter clearly in this announcement.

In the first place ordinary Aspirin and "ASPRO" commence from the same basic element. In a general sense they finish up in quite a different manner—"ASPRO" being pure, safe and effective—whilst ordinary Aspirin is frequently harmful and inefficient.

Crude Aspirin contains free Salicylic Acid, which is expressly forbidden in the standards laid down by the British Pharmacopoeia, the guiding authority of the Medical Profession. It is the free Salicylic Acid in Aspirin that causes palpitation of the heart, digestive troubles and other disorders.

The manufacturers of "ASPRO" have eliminated free Salicylic Acid from their product, and prevented its development. A manufacturer may start with a pure drug, and by lack of the latest knowledge may turn out tablets containing free Salicylic Acid, liberated during the processes necessary to prepare the powder for compression.

The following positive claim is made for "ASPRO" Tablets:

THEY ARE OF BRITISH MANUFACTURE. ACETYL SALICYLIC ACID, FREE FROM ANY TRACE OF FREE SALICYLIC ACID AND CONFORMING TO THE TESTS OF ALL KNOWN AUTHORITIES, THE TABLETS ARE MADE BY PROCESSES WHICH INSURE THAT THEY ARE OF THE SAME STANDARD OF PURITY AS THE ORIGINAL DRUG AND CONTAIN NO TRACE OF FREE SALICYLIC ACID.

The PURITY of 'ASPRO'

The purity of "ASPRO" conforms to the standard laid down by the British Pharmacopoeia—the guiding authority of the Medical Profession. With "ASPRO" there is no free Salicylic Acid, therefore, it does not harm the heart, or have any injurious after-effects, such as palpitation, nausea, a digestive or other troubles. Safeguard your health and heart by always insisting on "ASPRO".

FOR SPARKLING EYES

SOME HINTS TO TAKE

If you are ever in doubt as to which feature of the face possesses the greatest power of attraction, you have only to consult the first ten people you meet to have the problem finally settled. At least seven of them will answer your question in favour of the eyes. They will tell you—if you are curious enough to press for reasons—that no other feature has so much power of expression.

Afterwards, you will probably wonder why you have so sadly neglected your most important feature. You will look at your eyes rather more critically than usual, and if they are not as bright and sparkling as they might be, you will immediately decide to give them a share of the regular attention you pay to your complexion and your hair. And the decision will be a wise one, for you will be quickly and amply repaid for your trouble.

Nothing responds to proper care more readily than the eyes, and nothing helps in quite the same degree to give that charm and brightness which are a woman's chief asset.

First of all, you will need an eye-bath. Keep this in your bathroom and use it every morning. The bathing is done with boracic solution.

If it needs to be reheated, stand the cup in a pan of boiling water. The daily use of this solution strengthens the eyes, prevents infection, and takes away the appearance of tiredness which follows late nights. If those who are subject to styes and soreness of the eyes would use this boracic wash two or three times a day, an improvement would soon be noticed.

It is advisable to keep a bottle of eye lotion which you can obtain from some dependable drug store. They always carry a varied stock and it will compensate you for the time and money spent on this particular item of your toilet. Will tell you more about this important matter next week.

ODDS AND ENDS

The tissues of the body are alkaline and health demands the maintenance of an alkaline reserve. In order to do this one has to eat a great deal of fresh vegetables and fruit. Lane, Crawford carry a reasonable supply, but when they happen to be out it is wise to keep a stock on hand of some dependable brand such as the "Beulah" for example. They are packed in England, and the best of fruits and vegetables are used, in this up-to-date plant.

SOME IDEAS FOR A DAY'S MENU

Breakfast.
Stewed peaches, cereal, cream, fish and rice on toast, milk coffee.
Luncheon.
Tomato rare-bit on toast, button radishes, dried apple pudding, milk or tea.
Dinner.
Swiss steak with brown gravy, mashed potatoes, creamed onions, Chinese cabbage, with potato mayonnaise, Beulah's raspberry trifle crisp cookies, milk and coffee.

Noodle Pudding Is Substantial Tasty Dessert

Following is a recipe for Egg Noodle Pudding which uses wide egg noodle:
1-7 ounce package wide noodles
1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon flour
2 eggs well beaten
1 lemon, grated rind and juice
1 cup chopped walnut meats
1 cup raisins
3 apples thinly sliced
1 teaspoon salt
Cook the noodles in rapidly boiling water for twelve to fifteen minutes until tender, but not soft. Add one teaspoon of salt to each quart of water used in cooking. Drain. Cream the shortening, add the sugar and flour which has been sifted together. Then add the well beaten eggs, lemon juice and rind, blend well. Add the walnut meats and raisins, thinly sliced apples and salt. Combine together well and pour into a well greased ring mold. Set in a pan of hot water and bake in a 325 degree oven for one hour. Unmold and serve with a garnish of sweetened whipped cream.

STRAWBERRIES

Raspberries, Plums, Black Currants packed right, and preserved in tins. These delicious fruits come from England, and are put up in pure fruit juices. Served with Ice Cream or Chilled in your WESTINGHOUSE REFRIGERATOR will make just the dessert you need to top a good dinner. Can be obtained at all reliable dealers.

SIAM'S RAILWAY CHANGES

FOURTH COMMISSIONER IN A YEAR

Bangkok, Aug. 1.
As a result of the Commissioner-General being transferred to the Irrigation Department, the present
Traffic Superintendent becomes the Acting Commissioner-General of the Siam State Railway while continuing in charge of the traffic department.
The railways have now had four different Commissioners inside
twelve months.

Town of Rumours.
Bangkok, July 27.
The town has also been full of rumours in regard to the office of Commissioner-General of Railways.
Most people feel it is a mistake to turn this appointment into a political one. The State Railways employ thousands of men, and constant changes in the higher posts
are detrimental to efficiency.
At present the Railways are linked to the R.M.S. system by the East coast and Kedah routes; the day when the yet to be constructed link between Siam and Burma will be of advantage to both Malaya and Burma may not be as distant as it now appears, and there is the further link "on the sea" between Malaya and Indo-China which the Siamese railways make possible.
There have been three chiefs of the Siamese railways in less than twelve months. Phya Sarasastra displaced after the first coup, his successor displaced before the second coup, and now comes the talk of a successor to the present incumbent. For a Commissioner-General to get thoroughly acquainted with this big system and its finances is a matter of years. Such frequent changes cannot be for the good of the working, the personnel
or the finances. *Singapore Free

NEW ATTEMPT ON STRATOSPHERE

ASCENSION WITH IMPROVED WEATHER CONDITIONS.

Chicago, July 31.
Professor Jean Picard and Lieut.
Commander T. G. W. Settle were ready to-night to step into the largest balloon ever built and attempt to explore the region between what is known as the Earth's atmosphere and the stellar void.
The balloon, now partly inflated,
will receive its full gas content the moment weather observations are satisfactory to Professor August Picard, twin brother of the scientist, who will make the ascension.
The Picard brothers have now waited more than a month for favourable conditions and it was said to-day they are improving.
They believed they might take off for the upper regions within 48 hours.
With the scientist and Lieut.
Commander Settle, who is to act as navigator, Captain Ward T. Vah Norman, the balloonist, may make the ascent.
Scientific instruments, provisions
and warm clothing are on the exposition grounds ready to be placed in the balloon car as soon as a light westerly breeze and complete fair weather prevail.
Professor Jean Picard said to-day
that at least twelve hours and possibly more will be required for the ascent. United Press.

THE U.S. KIDNAP MENACE

ROOSEVELT WILL USE FULL FEDERAL FORCE

HYDE PARK, N.Y., Aug. 2.
President Roosevelt is determined to use the full force of the federal government to break up the mass kidnapping and racketeering of recent months.
The President, at his summer home requested Brod. Raymond Moley to study the situation with the understanding that he should retain his office as assistant Secretary of State and return to it next winter.
New instances for kidnapping in the wake of this form of crime came to light today as the International Association of Police Chiefs meeting at Chicago, declared the crime situation was as serious as actual war and asked the co-operation of all law-abiding citizens to combat
it.
The Tulsa, Okla., World said that $200,000 ransom was paid for the release of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma City oil millionaire who was kidnapped by machinegunners and freed yesterday. Urschel said his eyes were kept during the three days he was held and he could see little light.
Police officials at New York

LEAGUE ASSISTANCE TO CHINA

COUNTRY'S DOMESTIC CONCERN: INTERFER-

NANKING, Aug. 4.
With reference to the proposed technical and economic co-operation between the League of Nations and China, a Government spokesman,
in an interview, points out that such a step was demanded by the exigencies of the time and is aimed entirely at the development of China's economic resources and consequently the enhancement of country prosperity. He said that the Government was determined to carry this project into realisation
in accordance with its settled policy. Outside interference would not be tolerated, he emphasized.

"INVISIBLE MAN"

STRANGEST FILM ROLE

Claude Rains, the British actor, is to play the strangest role in film history, that of the unseen protagonist of H. G. Wells' "The Invisible Man."

In most of the scenes he will be heard, but otherwise his presence will be indicated only by the effect of his movements on objects and people.

Mr. Rains started his screen career at the age of six in "Sweet Nell of Old Drury," became a call boy at His Majesty's Theatre in London, and after seven years with Sir Herbert Beerholm Tree left for Australia to continue his dramatic career. He is known more recently for his roles in "Karl and Anna," Shaw's "The Apple Cart," and "Too True to be Good."

"The Invisible Man" will be another all-English film made in Hollywood. James Whale will direct. J. C. Sherriff has adapted the story, and the cast includes Dudley Digges, Henry Travers, Una O'Connor, and Billy Bevan.

"SMILIN'
THROUGH"NEW NORMA SHEARER
HIT AT THE QUEEN'S

With Norma Shearer as its star, and one of the most brilliant supporting casts yet assembled for the speaking screen, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's lavish production of "Smilin' Through" opens on Sunday at the Queen's Theatre.

Miss Shearer in the feminine lead follows in the footsteps of Jane Cowl, who achieved one of her greatest successes in the record-breaking New York stage run of the play from which the screen production was adapted. Opposite her is Frederick March, borrowed from Paramount to play the dual role of Jeremy Wayne in the mid-Victorian sequences of the story and Kenneth Wayne, his son, in the modern scenes.

Leslie Howard and O. P. Heggie, who left the screen to fulfill stage engagements on Broadway during the past season, were brought back to Hollywood to add further lustre to Miss Shearer's cast. Both these distinguished players have appeared previously with the star. Howard in "A Free Soul," and Heggie in "The Actress." The cast also includes Ralph Forbes, Beryl Mercer, David Torrence, Margaret Seddon and Forrester Harvey under the direction of Sidney Franklin, who produced "Private Lives."

NEWS FROM THE PARAMOUNT
STUDIOS

Marlene Dietrich wears 25 different dresses in "The Song of Songs," and carries us back twenty-five years when women's clothes really were feminine. This is rather in contrast to the stars every day apparel as the protagonist in the trousered suit style, wearing a black German peasant mourning costume of the 1807 period, with very full skirt.

Bela Lugosi of "Dracula Fame" is in a comedy novel. He tells everyone how pleased he is to get something besides a horror part. Edward Sutherland, who is directing the picture, is confident that Lugosi will be as popular in his new character.

It is said the trousers vogue for women has been anticipated by designers, ever since we saw the tremendous hold that pajamas had gained on the feminine fancy. Of course they are sure the American women will not want them for formal occasions, but for lounging and sport as they are more comfortable.

Gary Cooper is contemplating a trip to China after his hunting trip in Mexico.

Marlene Dietrich will spend the summer in Germany. Frederick March will retreat 70 miles south of Hollywood to his lovely cottage on the Pacific at Laguna Beach. When there, he lives in a pair of trunk, bathing, sleeping, playing tennis and riding. No catching of trains or boats for Mr. March when he is on a holiday.

Sylvia Sydney is contemplating a vacation either to New York or the Hawaiian Islands. Two charming Chinese girls, working in "International House," stopped in at the studio to renew their acquaintance with Gary Cooper.

"THE ANIMAL KINGDOM"A STORY OF MODERN MARRIAGE

"Just this one marriage, please, darling," Tom Collier says to Cecilia in "The Animal Kingdom."

How many couples have gone to the altar with this desire, this vow to make their marriage a success, convinced that theirs is an undying love and have sooner or later rushed to the divorce courts for release from a bond that has become unbearable?

What is the flaw in marriage? Is it that in affairs of the heart—despite intelligence, culture and ideals we still belong to the animal kingdom?

Tom Collier, played by Leslie Howard, breaks with Daisy Sage, portrayed by Ann Harding, to marry Cecilia, enacted by Myrna Loy. Daisy is an artist of fine sensibilities and generous nature. She loves Tom, but has wanted their love to be without bonds. Cecilia belongs to Tom's own social world, and could be had only in marriage.

There is something of the artist in Tom and something of the courtisan in Cecilia, who has no scruples about using physical wiles to get her selfish way with her husband. She cares nothing that she is robbing Tom of his personality and killing his artistic and creative impulses—she cares only about things her own way. Is such a woman entitled to the respectable name of wife just because of her marriage license? Is she wanton or wife? Has she reversed roles with her husband's mistress?

"The Animal Kingdom" is now playing at the Central Theatre. It is an adaptation of stage success, produced by RKO Road, Pictures and directed by Edward H. Griffith. Besides Ann Harding, Leslie Howard and Myrna Loy, the cast includes William Gargan, Neil Hamilton, Henry Stephenson, Ilka Chase, and Donald Dillaway.

A FAMOUS WOMAN
JEWELS AND MARRIAGES
AND COMEDY

One of the best-known women in the world has joined Paramount to play an important part in "International House."

She is Peggy Hopkins Joyce who has been hailed as "one of the most romantic women of our generation." Much married, she was once the Countess Costa Morner, much jewelled, and always clad in magnificent gables, she was known a few years ago as "The Lady of the Orchids."

She is a former musical comedy player, is the author of a book—"Men, Marriage and Me," and she is reputed to own one of the most famous collections of jewels in America.

"DOWN TO EARTH"

WITH WILL ROGERS—THE MODEST STAR.

The most bashful and self-effacing of Hollywood's ordinarily spotlight hungry stars is Will Rogers. He has made six starring pictures for the Fox Film Corporation, and has yet to attend his first premiere, his first "personal appearance," and his first studio preview in a public theatre. No clamoring throng of autograph-seekers and hand-shakers ever has succeeded in running him down. He is a past-master at the art of slip-away, hide-out and run-star-run.

Friends declare Rogers to be far from unsocial. Quite the contrary is true. But they do admit to his being bashful and ill at ease among strangers. He will talk and joke for hours on end with those he knows.

Owner of a large and beautiful estate not far from Beverly Hills; owner also of a string of polo ponies and several large cars, Rogers himself presents a strange paradox. His customary garb is a slouch hat, leather jacket, blue work shirt, baggy trousers and a pair of battered, heelworn cowboy boots.

Rogers' next picture, "Down to Earth," will soon be seen at the King's Theatre on Wednesday. David Butler directed.

"THE WARRIOR'S HUSBAND"DID AMAZONS EVER EXIST?

Elissa Landi, charming film star, answers the question as to whether Amazons ever really existed with the statement that they never really did.

"The world is full of Amazons to-day," she says. "Virtually every woman is an Amazon, insofar as she's out to get her man, by fair means or foul."

"Of course," she added, "I have no intention of maligning my own sex. Far from it. I have too much respect and pride for it. Under the present economic system, it is virtually necessary for a woman to be a huntress. Most of us conceal it, of course, but the fact remains nevertheless."

"Few women are equipped to make themselves economically independent. Every one who does, is by nature, if not by appearance, an Amazon at heart. She must go forth and do battle just as her sisters, back in antiquity, battled against neighboring tribes in Pontus. Modern woman of course does not use swords or battle axes or bows, and arrows but they have weapons just as effective in their armories."

Miss Landi is a real old-fashioned Amazon in "The Warrior's Husband," in which she is co-

THE CELLULOID
DERBYSHOT FROM FORTY-FOOT
TOWER

While the horses were being paraded in the paddock on Derby Day, pictures of the King and Queen's arrival on the course were being screened at the British Paramount News Laboratories in London. At intervals of a few minutes successive portions of the day's events were being received from despatch riders and rapidly passing through the developing, printing editing stages. Within an hour of Hyperion's runaway victory, the British Paramount News record was assembled and afterwards copies of a special Edition were on their way by airplane to cinemas in all parts of the country.

This is the result of weeks careful preparation and planning, and the completed film shows for about five minutes on the screen.

The detail is the most important part. Special arrangements were made by the British Parliament organisation to obtain aspects of the finish from additional angles, apart from the positions ordinarily used.

In order to obtain an extra-long panoramic shot of the field rounding Tattenham Corner they erected a forty-foot camera tower in the angle of this famous bend. When Hyperion flashed away from the field at this point the Paramount cameras commanded an unexampled view and from their lofty "grandstand" secured one of the most sensational "follow" shots in news-reel history.

starred with Ernest Truex. She is a sister of Hyperion, played by Marjorie Rambeau, queen of the Amazons, and incidentally, is the commanding general of the army.

This hilarious comedy, which many will see as a subtle satire directed at the modern woman who insist on "wearing the pants" liberally instead of figuratively, deals with the troubles of the ancient Amazons when marriage was first introduced into their scheme of things.

The queen's husband, although a weakling seething with ambition to win equal rights for his sex, and to that end helps Hercules steal the famous Diana Girdle from his wife. This girdle gives the Amazons the power to rule over men, and with its loss, they revert to type and become loving housewives and sweethearts while the men are restored to their rightful place in the sun.

"The Warrior's Husband," adapted from the Broadway success of Julian Thompson by Ralph Spence and Sonya Levien, is a Jesse L. Lasky production for Fox Film, and comes on Saturday to the King's Theatre.

Lam Wing, unemployed, was sentenced to six weeks hard labour by Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy yesterday on a charge of having been found in 173, Queen's Road, East, 1st floor, for an unlawful purpose. Chan Shuet, living in a cubicle on the floor, found the defendant hiding behind a curtain, and when she pulled it aside he dashed out into the street, but was arrested by a tailor.

ECHOES OF 1858

39.—Hong Kong and The Problem of China Coast Pirates

August 24, 1858.

The question of piracy upon this Coast is one which cannot be much longer shirked. The Chinese are as much capable of putting it down,
as they are of keeping a custom house, and although it may not be the duty of the British Government to suppress it, unless application be made to them to do so from the Chinese authorities, still in the neighbourhood of our own Colony,
on our own highway of commerce,
we submit that duty and national interests demand that something should be done.

Surely with the immense fleet we have, one steamer might always be kept in readiness. The Governor should have the power of hoisting
a signal to the effect that she was required—the senior naval officer and the Captain of the steamer
should repair to Government Offices, and there arrange matters—
by the time the Captain got on board again his steam should be up,
and then some good would be done.
Lord Elgin would be a good man to manage this kind of business. It is the only thing we know of that he is fit for.

Something must be done soon.
The fishermen outside are all pirates, which used not to be. The crew of the Courier, which vessel was wrecked a short time on the Pratae, was attacked several times
when coming here in the boats, were robbed and maltreated. The crew of the Antelope were treated
the other day in the same manner,
the mate and one man being murdered under circumstances of revolting barbarity. The other day a gunboat was deliberately attacked by these piratical fishermen. Last Friday, the lorcha Queen of the West was attacked by them off the Ladrones and chased to the Lemas,

her sails, mast and rigging being cut all to pieces by their shots.
Yesterday, the Magistrate's court was occupied in the investigation of a most extensive piracy committed between this and Lanton.

All the outside fishermen should be licensed and not allowed to carry arms. Gunboats should cruise amongst them and they would precisely soon report the proximity and whereabout of pirates. This plan would make the fishermen the guardians of the coast, not the scourge of it.

"DEATH BY MISADVENTURE"

DRIVER CENSURED FOR CAUSEWAY BAY ACCIDENT

A verdict of "death by misadventure"
was returned by the jury in the inquiry at Central Magistracy
into the tragedy at Causeway Bay
when a Chinese woman was killed by a motor-car. The proceedings lasted till about 6 p.m.

The jury censured the driver for taking out a car which did not conform to regulations, in that the right head lamp bulb was apparently missing, and, from the evidence given, he had only a foot-brake.
They also recommended that the lighting of that stretch of Causeway Bay Road be improved.

The jury was composed of Messrs.
C. W. Langley E. Allen and D. F.
Lopes, while Mr. Schofield acted as Coroner.

It will be remembered that the enquiry which opened on Tuesday,
was into the circumstances surrounding the death of a Chinese woman who was killed in Causeway Bay Road on July 12, by private motor car No. 1141 driven by a Chinese named Yuen Chi Sum.

Police Tests.

In beginning the police evidence Sub-Inspector Saunders said that on July 13 he examined the car
No. 1141. It was a Hupmobile touring car about four years old,
in fair mechanical condition. The glass of the right front head lamp
was missing and there was a small
dent on the top of the same lamp.
He tested the foot-brakes and they stopped the car in 10 from 15 m.p.h.

Witness also said that there were many places on the road where it was very difficult to see persons dressed in dark clothing.

Sergeant Clarke said that on July 15 he went with the driver of the car to the mortuary and they identified the body of the woman. He also stated that the deceased had given her address as
No. 21, Lai-chikok Road but he went to the place two days later and found that she was unknown there.

The Driver's Evidence.

Yuen Chi Sum, the driver of the car was then called. He said that when passing the typhoon shelter
at Causeway Bay Road at the time in question he saw a car about 15 feet away. He dimmed his head lights but kept the side ones on.
He did not notice what the other car did. He was going at about 18 or 17 m.p.h. and there were no people on the road. He then saw a woman running obliquely across from the right, towards the front of his car. She was about four or five feet away when he first saw her. He at once applied his brakes and swerved to the left, but the right mud-guard struck her left leg. In falling her head struck the right head lamp and broke the glass.

F.M.S. DOCTOR'S APPEAL

Man Who Was Struck
Off The Register

JUDGMENT RESERVED

SINGAPORE, August 2.
Judgment was reserved in the Supreme Court, before the Chief Justice (Sir Walter Huggard) and Assessor (Sir David Galloway) at the end of the appeal of Dr. C. I.
Paglar, from the decision of the Medical Council to strike his name off the register on the ground of professional misconduct.

Mr. V. D. Knowles, counsel for the appellant, contested the point made by Mr. J. G. Campbell, for the Medical Council, that the Council should be regarded as a domestic tribunal. It was not like a Club
the powers of which could be absolute.

"Good Government."

Again, the question of good Government did not always enter into Medical Council decisions because some of them concerned acts which were perfectly innocent from the point of view of the public.

"After all," continued Mr.
Knowles, "a doctor is not allowed by a Medical Council to advertise a nursing home but if he did, that could not be considered against
good Government."

"There is an analogy in my own profession."

"I well remember a paper being started in London in which descriptions and photos of eminent legal men were published. There was an awful row, I remember, and certain action was taken but those concerned could not be said to have done something contrary to good Government."

To Protect Public.

The Chief Justice: But Mr.
Knowles, indirectly these rules are introduced to protect the public.
are they not?

Mr. Knowles: Some of these matters are purely ethical conduct, I should say.

Mr. Knowles argued further that they were rather inclined to look back on Dr. Paglar's conduct with a suspicion born of after events.
At the time, that conduct would have been considered quite innocent.

Conclusively, the evidence, in his opinion, was not sufficient to support a decision of such weight against Dr. Paglar.

of the bulb of the right head lamp
was still in the lamp.

The Coroner: Then when the police said it was not, they were lying.

This concluded the evidence. In summing up the Coroner said: "To my mind it seems that Dr. Shin

Hong Kong & S'hai Bank's Temporary Accommodation

EXTENSIVE RECONSTRUCTION AT THE CITY HALL

Residents in Hong Kong will have noticed that the demolition of the western wing of the City Hall is now practically complete. This wing which contained the old Theatre Royal has been removed in order to clear the site for the erection of the new premises for the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank. Before the existing Bank can be demolished it is necessary to provide temporary premises for occupation during the period of construction of the new building and during the past few weeks work has been proceeding on the remainder of the City Hall to convert it for this purpose. The temporary premises will comprise the eastern section of the City Hall from the Cricket Ground up to and including the old Grand Staircase. An annex is also being added on the Queen's Road side to increase the main floor area for the Bank, and also to provide a temporary home for the Public Library which will be housed on the first floor, approached by a separate staircase from Queen's Road.

The Main Entrance.

The main entrance to the Bank will be on Queen's Road at the south west corner of the building. This entrance will lead straight through to the public space which starts at the foot of the old Main Staircase and has an extension to the east into the Banking space. Just inside the Queen's Road entrance there will be an area with telephones devoted to the use of Brokers with a doorway leading to the Manager's room. On the ground floor, starting from the Queen's Road side will be located the departments for Correspondence, Current Accounts, Chief Accountant, and Cash. Upstairs, on the first floor in the old St. George's and St. Andrew's Halls, will be the departments which at present occupy the Annex of the existing Bank, namely the Savings Bank, Inward Bills, Drafts, Fixed Deposits, and Outward Bills. The basement has been given over entirely to Treasuries and a lift will be installed connecting the Treasuries with the main Banking floor.

Big Reconstruction.

Owing to the age of the old City Hall it had been condemned by the Authorities for use by the public and it has been necessary to reconstruct many of the floors, to demolish and re-build certain walls, and to strengthen the whole structure to make it suitable for occupation by a Banking Institution. It has been necessary to divert the existing storm-water drain, water main, telephone cables, etc., from the upper portion of Wardley Street and to relay them in the new street which will be situated between the new Bank building and the temporary premises in the City Hall. These services will be laid at considerable depth below the ground level and it has been found that the existing foundations of the western wing of the temporary premises were not deep enough to provide the necessary stability for the building and to avoid the possibility of damage to the services which will be laid in the new road, arrangements have therefore been made to increase the depth of the foundations of the temporary premises on this side.

The Bank will be moved into the temporary premises in the first week in October. In spite of its age the City Hall as reconstructed is excellently suited for its purpose and it is anticipated that the Bank and the public will not be inconvenienced during the period of construction of the new Bank building.

NEUCHWANG PIRATE LAIR

Manchukuo Attempt to Save Three British Captives

PLANES, TROOPS, AND SAILORS

Aeroplanes, troops, and a number of coastal defence boats specially equipped with oil for burning junks co-operated in the recent attempt to release the three British mercantile officers, Messrs. A. D. Blue, C. Johnson, and W. E. Hargrave, who are still being held captive by bandits in the neighbourhood of Newchwang after having been kidnapped in a sudden raid on their ship, the s.s. Nanchang, as she lay in the mouth of the Newchwang River.

The attacking force missed freeing the captives only by the least margin. It was reported at the time that they had actually succeeded in securing the freedom of two of them, though this afterwards was proved to be unfounded and it was said that the bandits had managed to get through the cordon which had been closing in upon them and had joined another and more powerful band further inland.

WORK OF COASTAL POLICE FORCE

Shanghai.—Anxiety not to embarrass the authorities in their efforts to secure the release of the three Britons has been largely responsible for the lack of details concerning negotiations with the bandits and attempts to round them up. The North-China Daily News learnt, however, some of the difficulties which have been encountered and was given a brief sketch of the steps which have been taken to surmount them.

The Manchukuo and Japanese authorities have established a coastal police force for the express purpose of breaking up the gangs of pirates and bandits which operate along the southern shore of the new state. The commander of this force is a Captain Miyabe, a retired Japanese naval officer. Under him he has about 280 men, most of whom have served in the Japanese navy. He also has fourteen ships, the largest of which is 800 tons register, the remainder being small coastal defence boats varying from 200 tons to fifteen tons.

An Old Profession.

Piracy has been rampant in the Newchwang area for many years the robbers' favourite headquarters being in a small bay or inlet known as Wanshan-wan.

The topography of the bay has lent itself to the designs of the bandits. Eight small streams run into the bay, which is filled with tall reeds which form an excellent hiding place for the pirates.

Planes Bomb Junks.

A determined attempt to clean out this nest of pirates was made during the recent drive against bandits in the Newchwang area. A detachment of the Kwangtung Army was sent by land to cut off the lines of retreat away from the bay. Meanwhile the coastal police anchored at the mouth of the bay, while five Japanese aeroplanes flew over the bay and bombed all the junks they saw.

The thick reed-beds, however, proved excellent camouflage for the pirates and the aeroplanes had great difficulty in picking out the junks. Nevertheless, though the damage done was not up to expectations, the bombing undoubtedly shook the pirates' morale and made it easier for the coastal police to begin their very dangerous work of seeking out the junks by water.

Vessels Burned.

The coastal police fleet was equipped with drums of oil for just such an emergency. As soon as a pirate junk was sighted, the ships were fired at and the junks were carried out very shortly.

"AN OUT AND OUT LIAR!"

False Statement To Police

YOUNG CHINESE GIRL FINED

"She is an out and out liar. She lies to the Police, she lies to her solicitors and, I may say, she lies to the Court," remarked Mr. Wynne-Jones at Central Magistrate's yesterday when he fined a Chinese girl, named Poon Kit Wan, $30 for giving false information to the police to the effect that a man named Wan Fuk Kwai had stolen a bangle from her.

Inspector M. Murphy appeared for the prosecution, and the defendant was represented by Mr. Horace Lo who entered a plea of "Guilty."

Giving evidence, the girl said that while she was living at 2, Ngau Lan Loong she made the acquaintance of the complainant who apparently was a friend of the principal tenant. On several occasions, the complainant made improper suggestions to her. She refused but he continued to pester her and actually assaulted her in the streets.

On the day in question, she was walking in Sai Street when she met the complainant and several persons. The complainant approached her and struck her a blow. She shouted out "Snatching," whereupon the defendant ran away, but was arrested by an Indian constable. The reason why she accused the complainant of snatching her bangle was to get him arrested so that he would be deterred from pestering her in future. In fact, witness admitted, the complainant did not take anything away from her at all.

In reply to his Worship, witness said she was a widow and had been in the Colony for several months. She denied that she was a prostitute but admitted that she had had trouble with several Western Market folk. The folk used to visit the principal tenant, and while there each of them made improper overtures to her.

Wan Fuk Kwai, the complainant, stated that he was a fishmonger and had never seen the defendant until the day of the incident. He had heard from several customers that defendant was a prostitute. On the day in question when he saw her, he made an attempt to nudge her as a result of which she blew a police whistle and alleged that he had snatched her bangle.

Cross-examined by Mr. Lo, witness admitted that he had seen the defendant previous to the day of the incident, but had never been to No. 2 Ngau Lan Loong where the defendant formerly lived. He had never pestered her nor made improper suggestions to her.

In answer to his Worship as to how defendant knew his name if he was not known to her, witness said that the defendant might have heard it in the Police Station.

After evidence had been given by the interpreter of the Police Station to the effect that the defendant did not know the complainant's name when asked at the time, His Worship decided to convict and made the remarks mentioned above.

GUESTS AT HONG KONG HOTEL

Mrs. L. Belting, Mr. M. David, Mrs. G. Hart, Mrs. J. Hugenholz, Mr. W. A. Jones, Mr. F. G. Jones, Mr. H. C. Lamond, Mr. S. Lubarsky, Mr. W. H. P. Pinchard, Mr. P. Randow, Mr. J. P. Richmond, Mr. L. C. Solomon, Mr. G. Th. Simon, Lt. D. Wyburd, Mr. H. Watson.

made for it. The pirates as a rule preferred to escape into the reeds rather than put up a fight, and this made boarding easy. The drums of oil were then poured over the junks and set alight, and within a few hours the columns of smoke and flames shooting up from different sections of the bay announced the success of these new manoeuvres. Eighteen large junks were destroyed in this manner and many smaller boats during the course of a week.

Though the raiders searched carefully for the three British captives they had reason to believe were hidden somewhere in the bay, they met with no success. It is pointed out that it would have been comparatively easy for the pirates to take their captives ashore into the reed-beds where the searchers could not follow. The lesson learnt during this raiding out of the pirates is that the importance of the next attempt which, it is understood, will be carried out very shortly.

MONEY LENDER SUES FOR DAMAGES

SEQUEL TO ARREST IN SHANGHAI: JURY EMPANELLED TO HEAR CASE

PLAINTIFF COUNSEL DESCRIBES FALSE CHARGE AS ALMOST BAD AS BLACKMAIL

The sequel to the arrest and detention of Hazara Singh, a money lender, who was arrested in Shanghai and brought down to Hong Kong, and who was committed for trial, but in whose favour the Attorney General issued a writ of nolle prosequi was a civil claim before the Chief Justice yesterday in which Hazara Singh sought damages of over $30,000 from one Sawan.

A jury was empanelled to try the case, and there was a large attendance of Sikhs in Court to follow the proceedings. During the course of the case reference was frequently made to bais, a form of the money loan association scheme so well-known among the Chinese.

HOW THE ALLEGED DEBT WAS INCURRED

The claim was as follows:

$5,340 due to the plaintiff on promissory notes from one Ribeiro, a resident at Shanghai, which sum the plaintiff was prevented from collecting by reason of his arrest, $200 due to Mr. J. M. D'Almada Remedios.

$138 expense of passage from Amoy to Shanghai and residence in Shanghai from 18th November, 1932 to 3rd December, 1932, $23,000 damages, and costs.

Mr. Duncan McNeill and Mr. Leo D'Almada e Castro, junior, instructed by Messrs. J. M. D'Almada Remedios & Nephew were for the plaintiff and Mr. F. C. Jenkin, K. C., instructed by Messrs. Lo & Co was for the defendant.

At the commencement of the proceedings Mr. McNeill read the pleadings which stated that on November 12, 1932, plaintiff left Hongkong for Amoy and Shanghai for the purpose of collecting debts and that subsequently the defendant laid information before a Magistrate that the plaintiff had obtained from the defendant two sums of money amounting to $1,350 and $3,500, respectively, by virtue of which information a warrant was issued leading to the arrest of the plaintiff in Shanghai.

Mr. McNeill then read the statement of defence to the jury who were then each provided with a copy of the pleadings and the statement of defence.

What Plaintiff Must Prove.

Mr. McNeill said that he felt to lay a false charge of crime against any person was one of the wickedest thing a man can commit and that it was nearly as serious as blackmail and that it should be visited by the Jury, if the facts were proved, with a very severe penalty.

In order to establish the case, the plaintiff must prove the following matters, said Mr. McNeill. He must prove in the first place that the defendant prosecuted him. In the second place he must prove that the prosecution terminated in his favour. In the third place he must prove that the charges were false. In the fourth place he must prove that the charges were laid by the defendant without reasonable cause, and, lastly, he has got to prove that the defendant acted maliciously.

Counsel said he did not think the Jury would have very much difficulty with the first two matters because the records would be produced to show that the defendant did lay two informations before the Magistrate and did appear and prosecute the plaintiff on two charges. With regard to the termination of the proceedings that would be proved by the production of the notices from the Attorney General refusing to consent to any further proceedings on these charges. Mr. McNeill said that the refusal of the Attorney General to prosecute was equivalent to the throwing out of a case by a grand jury.

Mr. McNeill during his opening address read the two informations laid by the defendant and pointed out that such information must have been known to the defendant as false.

The item of $2,500 mentioned in the information, said Mr. McNeill was a perfectly normal business transaction the plaintiff having signed a promissory note which made him liable for that amount which he was to repay at $100 a month. Mr. McNeill said that in fact the plaintiff did not receive $2,500 in cash or in credit. The plaintiff was a member of a money loan association or bais and he had bid $2,100 for the right to draw a pool of $5,000 and so he actually required $2,100.

Mr. McNeill next took the jury over certain points in the evidence given by defendant before the Magistrate. The Magistrate had made a remark at one stage of the case to the effect that his Worship "would not allow his Court to be used as a lever for civil cases."

At the close of Mr. McNeill's address Mr. Jenkin asked whether it was suggested that there was no malice on the part of the defendant at all except in the present case. Mr. McNeill agreed that that was so.

Evidence Called.

Sergeant Brand was the first witness called. He gave evidence of arresting plaintiff in Shanghai and bringing him down to Hongkong. When searched in Shanghai, the plaintiff had $300 on his person, and promissory notes amounting to over $7,000.

Mr. Jenkin (cross-examining): Did you have any conversation in Shanghai with plaintiff with regard to his leaving Hongkong?

Witness: Not that I remember. Do you know anything about the passport system with regard to Indians who want to go to India? I am afraid I don't.

You took up with you a man called Abdul Latiff? Yes, for the purpose of identifying plaintiff.

Did he act as interpreter between you and plaintiff? No.

Hazara Singh, the plaintiff, then went into the witness box. In answer to Mr. Leo D'Almada he said that he had been in Hongkong for ten years and had been a money lender for over eight years he was a member of the Moneylenders' Association and was a member of several "bais."

There was one "bais" of $100 which was drawn regularly on the 10th of each month. He had two shares in that, there being fifty shares in all. One of his shares had previously been drawn and on November 10, he drew his second share. There were at that time, 38 instalments due on the second share.

Plaintiff then related the circumstances under which he came to draw the second share. He attended at the drawing and took part in the bidding, but he was not the highest bidder. The next morning, after 10 o'clock, he heard that owing to a hitch the highest bidder was not allowed by the committee to draw the pool and plaintiff was asked to step into the pool as he was the second highest bidder. At first he refused explaining that he had only taken part in the bidding to raise the premium and had no intention of drawing his share. Ultimately he was persuaded into accepting. He was paid $2,500 and signed a promissory note for $3,500.

Witness then gave evidence of his departure for Amoy and Shanghai and his subsequent arrest.

Cross-examination.

Mr. Jenkin (cross-examining): Your departure from the Colony on November 13, may be capable of explanation, but on the facts I am going to put to you it is rather curious. The 13th was a Sunday. Yes.

That is the day you can't get the assistance of the Court to sign an affidavit before leaving the Colony? Yes, that is correct. The affidavit was not signed on Saturday. (Continued on page 4.)

DOCTORS AND LAYMEN

Dr. J. G. Geiger, the distinguished Director of Public Health Services in San Francisco
City and County, warned business men that they did not look sufficiently well after their health.
In his opinion they were most careless about the two greatest scourges of middle age—heart disease and cancer. Though most of us fall a long way short of the ideal, on the whole this an age which pays an unusual amount of attention to health. Often it runs to extremes. We all know the person who is fussy about health,
and who makes a hobby of pills
and medicines, diets and doctors,
to the great benefit of the persons and interests concerned. But the advertisements of to-day, especially in popular magazines, reflect the desire for health and fitness. The sponsors of courses, appliance, medicines and books
to that end, can afford to buy publicity in journals with worldwide popularity. Humanity has changed in the last thirty or forty years, obesity and drunkenness
are not the good jokes that artists and humorists used to consider them. People want to be like Greek athletes, and the standard of health is, in fact, very much higher.

How far have the doctors brought about this change? In the matter of Public Health there is every reason "to honour the physician." To him we largely owe modern sanitation and hygiene, the vast improvement in foods of all kinds; a big inroad

against the plagues and sicknesses spread by insects, and the development of quarantine precautions. In the matter of treating actual disease the advance is hardly less remarkable. Surgery works increasing wonders; the social scourge has been enormously lessened; the great system of preventive inoculation keeps small-pox, typhoid, and most of the "notifiable diseases" in check,
among those who can, and do,
take advantage of the precautionary measures.

Dr. Geiger had his finger near the weak spot when he spoke of this carelessness about health.
While the medical profession are getting uncannily clever in patching up bad health, how far are they able to keep us in good health? Perhaps many would say: "If you come to me every three months for an overhaul
there is a lot I can do." But so far little has been done to change the idea that the doctor is a person to call in when you are really ill; to make him instead a regular consultant is a notion at present only adopted by the small minority. Many people still take pride in carrying on while very ill, never consulting a doctor, and making themselves instead a thorough nuisance to all with whom they are unfortunate enough to come in contact.

There are, however, certain doubts as to how far the doctors themselves know much about keeping people well, as against curing them when ill. Diet is a question on which nearly all disagree. The average general practitioner takes a cautious line and tells his patients to eat what they like, and what on the whole they find agrees with them, always observing the golden rule of moderation. More eminent members of the profession are eloquent on vegetarianism, fasting, orange juice and teetotalism. In the highest flights of all, however,
experts like Lord Dawson of Penn seem to return to the less ambitious view. It is rather like the decision of the county court judge, which is upset by the King's Bench and the Court of Appeal, but restored by the House of Lords, for reasons far more profound than His Honour could be expected to comprehend. In fact diet is obviously a subject about which no finality has been reached. There are many other blank spaces in medical knowledge, particularly some that social morality has sought to fill

with rulings that ought to be right, but are sometimes dead against fact.
But despite these limitations
there is room for a good guidebook to health in the tropics.
What a pity the local medical profession cannot produce such a volume! The laymen is very much at a loss as to how to keep well. Many of us like plenty of meat in the hot weather. Are we storing up trouble by indulging that appetite? Would the inadequacy felt after a meal of vegetable or even fish pass in a little while, and should we be better to eschew beef and pork, like oysters
in England, during a certain season? What about alcohol? Many a tired person can eat a meal
after cocktail or a gin and bitters,
but without it he finds food nauseating. Some doctors declare that a whisky and soda taken before one goes to bed is poison.
Others say: "Take it if it helps you to sleep." Exercise is a debatable point. Is the exercise that keeps the muscles fit often taking undue toll on the heart and other organs? Native races are not all devotees of athletics—
but sometimes they are! Is the fetish of "keeping fit" really a danger? Would most of us do better to go slow during the summer and not play tennis or swim too energetically? A distinctly unpleasant ailment that seems to elude the faculty is "Hong Kong foot." Possibly doctors might say, "in view of the admitted gaps in our knowledge it is better to keep silent."
A handbook might be taken literally, where it only offers a tentative suggestion. At least,
however, some of the queer illusions about health that people believe and act on without question might be demolished. Old wives tales, and old grandfathers tales, have an astonishing vitality, and here the doctor's pen might often save the application of his knife.

WEDDING SINGAPORE BANKER AND SHANGHAI BRIDE

The wedding took place at St.
Andrew's Cathedral, Singapore, on Thursday of Mr. Robert Basil
Drew, of the Chartered Bank, son of the late Mr. A. W. Drew, and Mrs. Drew, of Coulsdon, Surrey, and Miss Anne Louise Pearson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs.
George Pearson, of Shanghai.

The service was taken by the Rev.
R. K. S. Adams and Mr. Withers
Payne played the organ.
The bride wore a dress of white satin made on long slender lines,
half sleeves to the elbow and ultra-long cuffs to the knuckles. The bodice was set in with heavy handmade lace cut in crescents. She carried a sheaf of lilies.

The bridesmaid, Miss Ellen Bennett, wore a dress of blue and yellow floral organdie with a cape, close-fitting skirt to the knee and ruched in crinoline style below.
She had a white hat trimmed with a large blue bow and carried a posy of hydrangeas and yellow gladioli.

The flower girls were Miss Heather Watty and Miss Shirley Holmes-Smith, dressed in Lido blue Kate Greenaway frocks with forget-me-not and butter-cup wreaths.
They also carried gold coloured baskets of forget-me-nots.

The matron of honour was Mrs.
R. W. Buckley who wore a floral green georgette dress with large green hat and carried a bouquet
of variegated gladioli.

Mr. R. W. Buckley gave the bride away, Mr. George Dods was best man and the groomsmen were Mr.
W. C. Mackay and Mr. D. A.
Campbell.

A reception was held after the wedding at 51, Nassim Road,
the residence of Mr. M. W. Tipper, where 50 guests assembled.

The honeymoon is being spent at Brastagi and the bride's goingaway dress was heavy blue and white check crepe-de-chine with large white organdie collar and cuffs. She had a small navy blue hat.

ed before Mr. Schofield at the Central Police Court yesterday
for professing to practice medicine
on July 14 without being a registered medical practitioner and for publishing his name as a doc-newspaper. Mr. C. Y. Kwan appeared for the defence and pleaded guilty to the first charge, but denied the second. Detective Inspector Murphy said both summonses were based on the same advertisement, but the magistrate withdrew the second charge and after evidence had been taken the defendant was fined $100 on the first summons.

LONG RESISTANCE AGAINST JAPANESE AGGRESSION

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, Aug. 9.

The National Salvation Association reported more seizure of Japanese goods. The guilty firm is the Yuen Shing Sundry Goods Store at 27, Chang Shan Road,
where cuff links, neck ties, shirt studs and bone buttons were found and seized.

Similar goods were seized at Chen Chuen Kee Shop and Ho
Tee Kai Shop located at numbers 18 and 40 of the same street. In each instance the witness of the Police was secured, and the proprietor of each shop was taken to the Cheung Shan Sub-Police Station for examination. In the circumstances the shop owners
had to plead guilty, and this means the confiscation of their goods.

An official of the Association
stated to-day that while the boycott movement in the Yangtze Valley and North China has completely collapsed, Canton and nearby cities will continue this ban as a programme of long resistance against Japanese aggression. Barring occasional smuggling, the boycott is quite effective here.

ANOTHER HARD CASE

YOUNG OPIUM DIVAN
KEEPER BEATEN.

Before Mr. Wynne-Jones yesterday, a Chinese youth with his face wreathed in smiles, cheerfully admitted being the keeper of an opium divan at 3, Tai Ping Shan.
He was ordered to receive six months.

R. O. Grinnitt who prosecuted remarked that "he's another hard case. He'll say 'yes' to anything. I told him last night he would get strokes but he told me
he did not care two pins. Five smokers who were in the divan at the time of the raid, were fined $25 or three weeks each, while a woman, with a baby strapped to her back, was fined $50 for aiding and abetting the youth.

ber for Fulham from 1918-23 and again since 1931.

A passenger sampan, caught in a strong gust of wind yesterday capsized in the harbour, her crew being picked up by a steam launch near-
by. An old woman was trapped in the hold of the capsized sampan
and was in a serious condition when rescued.

Ten cases of enteric, and four deaths were reported last week.
The only other cases of notifiable disease were one of diphtheria and two of meningitis. The death roll from tuberculosis was 87. On Tues-health.

Owing to the fact that many people had to be turned away last night on account of the big demand for seats, Club de Recreio are pre-

POTTERY CENTRE
IN SHANTUNG
BUSY AND CHARMING
CITY OF POSHAN

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Poshan, Shantung, Aug. 1.

Poshan is situated in the middle of Shantung and is reached by a branch line of the Tainan-Kiaochow Railway. The junction is at Changtun on the main line, a station
which is being developed as a siding centre for goods trains and as an engine depot. There is talk of opening a new line from Changtun to Tainan which would considerably shorten the travel from Tientsin to Shanghai. So far the talk has not materialised into action.

There are four stations on the branch line to Poshan. The country between the city of Chihuan
and Poshan is a rich coal bearing region. There are large mines worked by a Sino-Japanese company at a place near the city of Chihuan. Some modern methods are used in these mines—a big improvement on the former crude methods.

Poshan is beautifully situated among the hills. Clear streams of spring water flow through the city.
In some of the temple courts there are interesting bubbling wells.
There are all the natural features for making a really ideal city. A light railway runs to coal mines
a few miles out of the city. Anthraxite coal is to be had in Poshan.

This city is an important industrial centre. Glass and pottery are manufactured. It is here that the famous Chinese glass snuff bottles with their pretty paintings on the inside are made. There are all kinds of shapes and sizes to be had
and the pictures are fine illustrations of Chinese art. They are really of little practical use but they do make attractive ornaments, and show a wonderful amount of skill and patience in their production.

The Government has set up a model pottery factory which manufactures teapots, cups, saucers,
plates, trays, soap dishes, cuspidors,
and other useful things. There are up-to-date kilns and machinery to drive the wheels and mills for grinding. Over 100 men are employed among them some clever

Local and General

Two night soil coolies employed at the Shing Mun Waterworks site have reported to the police that they were attacked by two men early yesterday morning and were robbed of $52. The two robbers brandished a bamboo pole and were resisted by the coolies who put up a good fight until one of the robbers produced a chopper. The $52 stolen by the robbers was dropped on the ground during the scuffle.

Lady Ho Tung, of 254, The Peak, was fined $8 by Mr. Wynne-Jones in Central Magistracy yesterday for allowing her dog abroad
without a muzzle. A similar fine was imposed on Miss Florence Tong of 73, Bonham Road for a similar offence. Miss D. McKay, 37, Seymour Road, was fined $5 for allowing her dog out unmuzzled, while Mr. D. B. Evans pleaded guilty on behalf of Mrs. Chan Tong Shi, of MacDonnell Road, in respect of three unmuzzled dogs, and a fine of $20 was imposed.

Mr. Aw Boon Haw of "Tiger Balm" fame, the well-known local millionaire and philanthropist, returned to the Colony yesterday after paying a brief visit to Canton. Mr.
Aw was welcomed on his arrival at Canton by the Chancellor of the Sun Yat Sen University and the heads of Government Departments.
Of chief interest concerning Mr.
Aw's visit was his journeying to Shek Pui to inspect the site where a new University is to be constructed, and it is learned that the millionaire will donate a large sum of money towards the building of the institute. The official host during Mr. Aw's stay in the neighbouring port was the Commander-in-Chief, General Chen Chai Tong.

Shantung men are bringing heroin pills into the Colony but the sellers are very difficult to catch,
according to Revenue Officer A. W.
Grinnitt, who prosecuted a Chinese before Mr. Wynne-Jones in the Central Magistracy yesterday
for possession of a small quantity of opium, possession of 880 heroin
pills and running an opium divan
at 239 Hollywood Road. The first charge, relating to the opium, was withdrawn, the defendant pleading guilty to the second and third offences. He was fined $800 or four months, and $100 or five weeks, consecutively. Another man arrested on the premises admitted the possession of 1,600 heroin pills and was fined $1,600 or six months.

GREAT HEAT IN HARBIN ILLNESSES CAUSED BY BATHING

Harbin, July 28.

The heat that has been felt in Harbin during the past ten days has been the cause of many curious accidents, and incidents which are very uncommon.

In the first place the public have gone in for so much bathing that many of them have been severely burned by the sun and thus skin diseases have broken out, while plunging into the water after baking on the hot sand has resulted in inflammation of the lungs from which several young people have died.

The heat has also caused many people to suffer from a kind of cholera more especially amongst the Chinese who reside in Fuchuan,
many among them having died
during the past week, not a day passing without at least two large Chinese funerals being seen wending their way along the streets of Harbin to the Chinese cemetery.

Famine in Siberia.
According to the Harbin Times, dead bodies are to be seen floating down the Amur and the paper states that this is no doubt owing to the famine which at present being felt in eastern Siberia. Such is the state of the people in the Amur provinces that they really have nothing at all to eat and,
therefore, they are attacked by a sort of plague, a plague of hunger
death and as there is not sufficient wood to make coffins, the bodies are simply thrown into the river.

Steamers which have arrived in the Suiyari from the Amur all state that they have seen very many bodies floating on its surface and as they are very thin and emaciated
there seems little doubt that the people have died from hunger.

Telegrams from the Amur state that there is very high water at its sources and that already several villages on its banks have been washed away, and if the water continues to rise then there is every chance of a great flood occurring such as has not been seen for many years, this probably resulting in the towns of Blagoveshensk and Sukhalin being completely flooded,
as they were some five years ago.
Reports from Sukhalin state that there is as much as thirty feet of water close to the shore of the river, in places where there are usually not more than ten feet.

Navigation on Suiyari.

The President of the S.M.R., Count Hayaishi, who has been on a visit to Harbin, sailed down the river on the s.s. Harbin, one of the fastest Amur steamers in the olden days, but of such a draught that it was impossible for it to navigate the Sansin Rapids and,
therefore, the president had to take an aeroplane from Timosi to the mouth of the Suiyari.

He returned to Harbin on July 17 and immediately after his return gave a great garden party in the railway club, at which more than 200 guests were present. The whole of the Consular Body including the American Consul-General and the British Consul-General, Mr.
Garstin, were present at the banquet, as well as all the leading Manchukuo officials of Harbin, and the leading members both Manchu-kio and Soviet of the C.E.B. The weather was beautiful and the party was much enjoyed by all those who were present, especially as the refreshments were arranged to suit
all the guests, namely, in European, Chinese and Japanese styles.

The reason for Count Hayaishi's
visit to Harbin and the Suiyari River was not officially mentioned,
but it was understood that he had come to investigate transport facilities so that he should have a personal idea of the possibilities of water navigation in northern Manchuria.

Count Hayaishi was very much interested in the Manchukuo Museum where he spent some time
in examining the various exhibits.

young man from Kiangsu and the induction of this new model factory on the ordinary factories in the town is working for improvement in these older works. There are great possibilities in a place like Poshan and the Government is to be congratulated in doing something so practical to help forward development. But much could be done if there were only adequate capital, and expert leaders available in larger numbers. The most of the pottery used in this Province comes from Poshan.

The material used in the manufacture of crockery is not clay but a sort of granite rock which is ground to a fine powder and mixed with lime. It does not produce such fine work as clay.

PRES. MACHADO

BLANKLY REFUSES TO RETIRE

HAVANA, Aug. 9.
The American Ambassador, Mr. Welles, called on the President and outlined the opinions of the Cuban political leaders, informing him that the consensus of opinion was that President Machado should ask Congress for leave of absence until Cuba's troubles are settled.
Mr. Welles pointed out that he was merely acting as a mediator. The statement was not in any sense an ultimatum from the United States.
President Machado immediately summoned a meeting of the Liberal Party of which he is a member and intimated that he had refused to accept the proposals.
It is understood that the principal proposal was that President Machado should name a Secretary of State who would be acceptable to all factions and afterwards ask for indefinite leave, in which event the Secretary of State, under the Constitution, would succeed to the Presidency.—Reuter.

TRADE OF DUTCH EAST INDIES

JAPAN'S INCREASED SHARE

(Special Air-Mail Service)

LONDON, July 18.
The fourteenth annual general meeting of the British Chamber of Commerce for the Netherlands East Indies was held yesterday at the offices of the Rubber Growers Association, Major the Hon. L. H. Cripps presiding.
The Chairman, in presenting the report and statement of accounts for 1932, said that the total value of trade was lower by 28 per cent. than that of 1931. The decrease, however, was only just over half of that experienced in 1930. The quantitative total, which dropped by 20 per cent. in 1931, remained practically stationary last year.
The most striking fact in the import figures was the continued advance of Japan. Her increased share in the market had in some cases been obtained at the expense of rival importers; but frequently her phenomenally low prices had enabled her to create a new market for the buying public, with which her competitors had no previous dealings. Great Britain improved her relative position in the import market from 7.7 to 8.6 per cent., and Singapore imports rose from 10.8 to 12.5 per cent. of the whole.
Contemporary politicians, he added, had a way of posing as doctors struggling to cure a diseased world. Though the old remedy of bleeding had long since fallen into disrepute among medical experts, our political doctors continued to treat their commercial patients in that way in order to enable them to pay, or to avoid paying, their own debts with the proceeds of the operation. He appealed to the politicians to leave Java to cure herself. She was far from dying of the plague from which the whole world was suffering. Indeed, she might almost be described as approaching this stage of convalescence.
The report and accounts were adopted.
Mr. H. Eric Miller said that in the Dutch East Indies all countries were on the same level of taxation. The Chamber was in a unique position to help manufacturers to get a footing in that market.

CHINA NAVIGATION CO.

'Boycott Not Yet Decided Upon

GOODS MAY BE REMOVED FROM B. & S. GODOWNS

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, Aug. 9.
Chinese merchants who have goods stored up in the eighteen godowns of Messrs. Butterfield and Swire, general agents of the China Navigation Company, Ltd., are permitted to remove their goods to other places, provided they sign a pledge to abide by the decisions and regulations of the "Support of the Woosung Seamen Committee."
Beginning from to-day, owners of the goods have to register the nature and quantity of their goods with a view to removing them from the Taikoo warehouses at Pak Hin Hok. In making the pledge, the owner of the goods has to pay a registration fee, and before the settlement of the Woosung incident he has to agree not to consign his goods to any place by the steamers of the China Navigation Company, Ltd.
Boycott Coast Liners.
Should the owner fail to comply with the resolution of the Committee, he undertakes to accept penalties of fines. The permit to remove the goods must be signed by three members of the Committee. Registration for removal can be applied at the headquarters of the Kwangtung Seamen's Union during office hours, namely 9 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

According to a conservative estimate, the goods are valued at about $1,000,000, being mostly piece goods, sugar, tobacco, sesame seeds, ground nuts, yellow beans and flour. Owing to the hot weather many of the goods are decaying and cannot be sold at all. The goods were held up since June 15, and some were entered as early as June 1.

On account of the strike of the warehouse workers and picketing conducted by the Kwangtung Seamen's Union, the goods could not be removed earlier. Permission to release this stock relieves Chinese merchants from further loss, while the question of boycotting the coasting steamers of the China Navigation Company is yet unsettled.

TWENTY-FIVE REDS CAPTURED

WITH MACHINE-GUNS AND A TRENCH MORTAR

Canton, Aug. 9.
Reinforced by the timely arrival of the 60th and 61st divisions of the 19th Route Army, the 78th division is able to stand against the Communists in the heavy fight in the vicinity of Lien Cheng, western Fukien.
It is said that the overwhelming force of the 19th Route Army has checked the Communists, some of whom have retreated to Changting, their headquarters in western Fukien.
Though checked, the Communists are attempting to stage another offensive, while its propaganda agents are stirring all sorts of rumours to scare the people in southern and western Fukien. As a result the people in Shanghai and Yungting are alarmed by the coming of the Reds, as these two towns are very near to Changting.
These towns in south-western Fukien are garrisoned by the first independent division under Lieut. General Huang Ying Huan who has taken all precautions to stand against the Reds.
The 19th Route Army is personally directed by General Tsai Ting Kai, the commanding officer, who has requested the Kwangtung and Kwangsi forces to start a joint drive against the Communists.

Brigadier General Tseng Yu Jen reported to the military headquarters here that his brigade killed 500 Reds in Lo Sun, southern Kiangsi. The report adds that 25 Reds were taken alive as well as the capture of some machine-guns, trench mortar and rifles.—Central Press.

AN IMPRESSION OF THE AUSTRALIAN PONIES

HOW THE BREED HAS IMPROVED IN TWENTY YEARS

A GOOD LOT AND A REASONABLE PRICE

On Tuesday afternoon I had the pleasure of being present at the draw for the Griffins recently imported from Australia, there being some 42 ponies to be drawn. Not having seen any "Walters" for some twenty years, one was struck with the immense improvement in the class of horse they now appear to export.

I think I heard somebody say that they were all in the stud book and certainly all these ponies looked it. Twenty years ago, Love's stables in Bombay used to import some 500 racing and polo ponies every year and the choosing of these was a rare old gamble.

To begin with, in the dark ages, some misled horsemaster in Australia imported a Hackney sire, and this blood spread all over the country. It certainly improved the looks of the "Walters," but plainly speaking as is well-known at home, any horse with one drop of Hackney blood cannot go as fast as you can kick your hat. Another snag was that in the old days the "wild horse" or akin to it certainly existed in Australia and one was occasionally finding a bit of this blood which made the horses shy, hard to handle, and at times there was real vice in them.

Another bad point was that they were frequently short in the forehead which affected the length of their stride and made them an uncomfortable ride.

A great many Australian ponies were U-necked which made them very unsightly. It is interesting to compare this with the ponies one saw drawn at the Jockey Club on Tuesday afternoon.

It is said that they are all in the stud book. The writer is not aware how far the Australian stud book goes back but the ponies certainly looked thoroughbred, practically all the defects of twenty years ago seemed to have been eliminated.

The one defect that seems to remain in a few cases is that some five or six ponies were distinctly U-necked. Apart from this they looked a good lot. The bone was good, several looked jumpers, generally speaking a good forehead, nice flat gaskins, a short cannon bone and not too long pasterns, nicely topped. In most cases the shoulders were good and in one or two ponies the so-called verticality of the humerus was almost that of a greyhound.

In many cases a kind head with bright eyes, the infallible tip that a lady has of spotting a winner in the paddock and a very good one, too.

I was struck with a chestnut with four white legs and a nice springy walk. The pony, His Excellency the Governor drew stood the voyage very well, looks a good pick and is evidently a good doer. One or two of the ponies appear to be a little long in the back but it has been found that a fair length of back is necessary to give the hind quarters sufficient scope for the sweep in stride so necessary when galloping.

The old tad of a very short back in the 'Nineties was probably due to that classic horse "Ladas" who, as a three-year old, carried everything before him. At the same time horses gallop all shapes, and generally speaking it has been found that a horse's back can be too short.

Few men are gifted to spot the best horse in such a batch as one saw on Tuesday, probably Lord Lonsdale could, as it was a well-known fact that when visiting Drage's stable in Leicester, the price always went up if Lord Lonsdale said the horse was a good one. Many of us can spot a good horse when we see one, but the real artist is the man who can say which is the "more better."

The ponies were evidently well-looked after on the voyage, there was a complete absence of rope galls, there were a few dirty noses and one or two coughs. This gives great credit to whoever looked after them on the voyage. The price of £35 (Australian) a pony appears a very reasonable one for thoroughbred such as are in this batch.

Twenty years ago in Bombay the price was certainly not less than that mentioned above and so unreliable a name had these ponies then that Love's stable would always exchange a pony after six months if found unsatisfactory.

We wish the drawers of the ponies on Tuesday the best of luck with their charges and we will all be grateful to them for providing us with sporting events in the near future.—A.D.

KENT v. SURREY AT BLACKHEATH

Even Play In An Historic Fixture

HOBBS TOO GOOD FOR HOME BOWLERS

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, July 18.

The play yesterday in the match between Kent and Surrey at Blackheath did its utmost to maintain traditions of an event which is peculiar in the calendar of a cricket's year. At the close of play Kent, with seven wickets to fall, were 143 runs in front, after they had in a desperate struggle, been led by 10 runs on the first innings.

To a new age there must be new heroes; the immensity of Blythe to reduce Surrey to a pulp is almost forgotten by those who now cheer Kent; but they have their Freeman, who yesterday, in a wonderful spell of bowling after luncheon, took four Surrey wickets in 15 overs, eight of which were maidens, for 22 runs. They had, too, in the opposite camp Hobbs, scoring 194th century of his career, and surely that was enough for any match at Blackheath.

Blackheath had escaped the full fury of the rainstorm which had fallen on London during the week-end, play started punctually at half-past 11, and Surrey, with 86 runs much to fear from a pitch which was taking the spin quite slowly. The Kent captain, however, had decided that it offered some opportunity to Freeman, whom he put on after Ashdown had bowled only one over. The ball was travelling slowly in the outfield, first Sandham and then Hobbs being charged of what looked certain to be four runs from the bat. Watt, bowling from the Grand Stand end, troubled Hobbs on three occasions; first he made the great man play a semi-defensive stroke with a cross bat which skied the ball to long-leg, but the fieldsmen could not quite reach it, and it went past him on the half-volley for 4; then Hobbs, with the stroke which gave him his 50, played the ball round to leg so late that Watt must have thought for a moment that it had got past the leg stump; and shortly afterwards Hobbs, stretching forward to a slower ball, edged it between the slips.

Hobbs Out. These accidents are written to explain how well Watt was bowling; for the rest Hobbs was altogether too good for the bowlers. Again he attacked Freeman right to the pitch of the ball, which was certainly turning enough to beat any half-hearted stroke. Sandham, too, was making some beautiful off-drives, twice hitting Ashdown, when he came on again, with perfect strokes past mid-off. Freeman had then been brought on to the other end, and just after Hobbs had gathered his 100 with a short run to mid-off from Ashdown's bowling, he had him out leg-before-wicket. Of Hobbs' innings one can say no more than each time that one sees him play, whether it be the 100th or the 1,000th time, he seems as grand as ever, and there is one better. He and Sandham, apparently putting the clock back several years, had score 158 runs for the first wicket, and Kent had to abide another 23 runs before Freeman bowled Sandham.

Squires and Barling were together at the luncheon interval, when the score, without further loss, had been taken to 198, but afterwards Surrey wickets went down one after the other. Barling was the first to go, leg-before-wicket, to Freeman's top-spinners; Gregory followed soon after; and at 230 F. R. Brown was bowled. Wilson stayed with Squires for a time, Squires making several good straight drives off Freeman until his pads were in front of a straight ball from Watt which kept low. Wilson, leaning forward, was beaten by the break and stumped; Gamble and Brooks were no sooner in than they were out, and nine wickets were down for 240 runs, Surrey still wanting 13 to lead on the first innings. With the score at 244 F. G. H. Fender was badly missed off Freeman at extra-cover point, which added one more run. He cut a ball from Watt in the next over for 4, put a ball quietly away for one run at the end of the over, and so pinched the bowling, and in the next gained the lead with a good bag round to leg. This meant no more than a fight for five points should the match not be concluded, but it was exciting for all that.

Woolley to the Rescue. Kent, having had the worst of this little skirmish, started their second innings badly when F. G. H. Chalk played back to a straight ball from Gamble and had his middle stump knocked back. There followed a stand between Ashdown and Woolley, which took the score to 88. Fender persevered for a long time with Governor and Gamble, but Woolley, as in the first

LAWN BOWLS

GRIMMITT AND BRADBURY WIN.

A. W. Grimmer, playing R. Ellis on the Craigengower Green yesterday went further ahead in the Lawn Bowls Singles Championship, winning by 22-17. Grimmer was the better player throughout but Ellis put up quite stiff fight all the way.

On the Police Green, Bradbury and C. G. Silva had a hard tussle, the score being even at 10-10, and then again at 13 all, but after that Bradbury obtained seven shots to his opponent's two, and by scoring a three in the last head won by 22-15.

innings, made run-making look easy. Among the many beautiful things which he did, he produced the greatest stroke which I have yet seen played this season, a glorious on-drive for 6 off Governor. When Fender and Brown came on the ball wanted watching, but both Ashdown and Woolley tickled it to leg or hit it hard to the off until Woolley stopped in front of a straight ball from Brown and was out leg-before-wicket. Ashdown soon afterwards was caught at extra cover point, but Ames, jumping to Fender and driving him over mid-on's head, and Todd added 46 valuable runs before stumps were drawn.

HOME CRICKET

Eighteen Batsmen Get Centuries

JACK HOBBS STILL GOING STRONG

London, August 8. The week-end cricket programme which had just been brought to an end was featured by some phenomenal scoring as a result of which four matches were left drawn.

No less than eighteen batsmen entered that blissful land of three figures while two of them passed the two hundred mark.

Among the several outstanding features of the play was the brilliant recovery by Worcester against Essex, who, after following on 250 runs in arrears, easily saved the game.

The honours went to the Nawab of Pataudi and C. F. Walters, the Test player. They made such light work of the Essex attack after a mediocre display in the first innings, that when stumps were drawn Worcester had put on 472 for 3.

Pataudi helped himself to 231 and was undefeated, and Walters aided with 134.

Lancashire brought Yorkshire's succession of big successes to an abrupt stop by winning on the first innings. To this they were indebted to Hopwood and Hawkwood, whose centuries made possible the total of 421 in response to Yorkshire's 290.

But everything else was capped by Leicester's sensational victory over Northants.

No less than 130 in arrears on the first innings, and with Northants declaring closed their second knock at 152-7, Leicester were, for three parts of the game outplayed. But they batted brilliantly for a fourth time on a weeping wicket, and snatched an almost impossible victory by scoring 283 for the loss of six wickets.

COMEDY

MISS PEGGY SCRIVEN'S SISTER EXPLAINS

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, July 18.

The selection of Mrs. L. R. C. Michell for the Wightman Cup lawn tennis team to visit America was to some extent, as suggested by Mr. Wallis Myers in the London Daily Telegraph, influenced by the need for a chaperone for the five unmarried members. It was not, as has been stated, due to an official demand by the mother of one of them.

A sister of Miss Peggy Scriven said: "I can tell you definitely that my mother did not make any official inquiry as to a chaperone for the British Wightman Cup team. "Naturally, with all the five players selected earlier being unmarried, Peggy's mother was anxious to know what arrangements were to be made for a chaperone by the L.T.A. During the championships at Wimbledon Peggy made inquiries on her own account. "She knew very well that if no married women were to accompany the team as chaperone her chances of going to America were very small indeed, for my mother considers that a journey to America is too long to be undertaken by five unmarried girls on their own. "I do not believe that the mother of any of the five players originally selected made official representation to the L.T.A., but I say that the fact of Peggy making inquiries, and suggesting, perhaps, that she would not be able to make the journey unless a married woman accompanied the team, influenced the L.T.A. in the selection of Mrs. L. R. C. Michell."

DR. YEN HONoured

LORD CECIL'S SPEECH ON JAPAN

(Special Air-Mail Service)

LONDON, July 18.
Dr. Yen, formerly Chinese Ambassador at Washington, who has now been appointed to represent his country at Moscow, was the guest at luncheon at the Washington Hotel, Curzon Street, yesterday of the League of Nations Union.

Lord Cecil of Chelwood, who presided, proposed the toast of "Our Guests." He said that the vital issue in connexion with Manchuria was whether international disputes should be settled by law or by war. It was impossible to exaggerate the importance of an issue which involved the whole of Europe, both national and international, between civilization and anarchy. In this country, with our experience and our history, we ought to be in no doubt that the supremacy of the law was absolutely vital to all freedom and all progress. Japan had lavished war not only against China but against the whole community of nations.

Dr. Yen, in reply, said that the significance of the Manchurian conflict was to be found in nothing more nor less than the upsetting of the balance of power in the Far East and the Pacific. He did not mean to say that when a balance of power was once established it was never to be changed. Nations rose and declined in power and prosperity, and frequently readjustments were necessary. But there were two methods of adjustment. There was the old pre-war revolutionary method through aggression and with violence, and the post-war evolutionary method through pacific means and with mutual consent. Unfortunately the Japanese Army deliberately chose to adopt the first method of violence and aggression, and it was obvious that the other nations of the world could not remain indifferent to this assault on important treaties which were meant to regulate a most delicate and difficult situation.

Mr. Eden on Lord Cecil.

Mr. Anthony Eden, Parliamentary Under-Secretary to the Foreign Office, responding to the toast, said: "Lord Cecil was good enough, in the course of his kind references to myself, to say that my chief quality was the capacity to say what I thought without offending anybody. I cannot claim with truth to possess that quality, but I must try to practise the precept set for me. You will not be surprised, therefore, when I tell you that I cannot associate myself in any way with the references which he has made to the Far Eastern dispute, nor is it my intention to make any reference whatever to recent controversial happenings in that part of the world. On the contrary my presence here is for quite a different reason: to ask to pay a personal tribute to a distinguished colleague at Geneva, who is now representing his country at the World Economic Conference—Dr. Yen."

PRISONER'S MURDEROUS ASSAULT

HEAVY SENTENCE AT JOHORE ASSIZES.

SINGAPORE, Aug. 2.
A sensational case in Johore Prison was described at Johore Assizes yesterday, when Cheo Tan, a recently released prisoner, was sentenced to four years rigorous imprisonment for a "brutal and murderous" attack on a European warder, Mr. A. G. Smith.
He was also sentenced to one year's imprisonment for an attack on Mr. E. H. Humphries, a European warder from Singapore, who was being shown round the prison by Mr. Smith when the convict suddenly attacked him.

HOW GOLF CAME TO HONG KONG

MODEST BEGINNINGS OF THE PRETTIEST COURSE IN THE FAR EAST

(By OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

When was golf introduced to Hong Kong? That question was fired as me the other evening and as I did not know the exact date then, I made some excuse or other but inwardly, I promised myself I would find that out, so I called on Col. E. D. Matthews, the courteous secretary of the Royal Hong Kong Golf Club, in the hope that he would be able to help me. I was not disappointed, for Col. Matthews very kindly supplied me with all possible available information and as a result of what I learned, I decided to write an article on Fanning which is generally acknowledged to be the prettiest golf course "east of Suez."

But to delve a little into the history of the game, the first golf match in Hong Kong took place sometime in 1888 when the late Sir Gershom Stewart and Capt. Murray Rumsey, the then Harbour Master, had a "friendly" match on the Race Course at Happy Valley. It was a rather poor apology for a golf course as there were no holes on greens while granite setts served to mark the distances.

Ten Foundation Members.
In the following year the Hong Kong Golf Club was inaugurated and it actually boasted ten members. To begin with the basement under the Grand Stand served to house the Club but later, when more support was forthcoming, a match was put up. This accommodated the members till 1895 when the Club house was erected. It is now a matter of history how this Club house was destroyed in the tragic Race Course fire of 1915.

Early Days at Fanning.
Late as we go back, however, to the time when Fanning was first used as a golf course. In was in 1911 when the present Old Course was planned and by Christmas of the same year, the Club boasted an 18-hole course. Since then there has been steady progress and in 1918, the "Ladies 9-hole Course" was completed, after four years negotiations with the authorities. In 1919 more land was acquired and a further nine holes were laid out, making with the above nine holes, what was then termed the "New Course." In 1928, further land was acquired with the intention of lengthening the second nine holes of the New Course, but in 1929 this idea was abandoned. Instead, in 1930, further land was acquired and nine new holes were made and inserted between the second and third holes of the New Course. Thus the old ninth became the eighteenth, and the nine holes, that had been the last nine of the New Course were turned into a separate "Relief Course."

The Prettiest Course in the Far East.
Situating as it is amongst delightful surroundings, Fanning is indeed a "golfer's paradise" and those people who have united, it have nothing but praise for it. Indeed one American tourist who went out to Fanning during a short stay in the Colony was heard to have made the remark, "Golf, these birds sure have a dandy course," and when asked what exactly did he mean by it, he replied that it was the prettiest course he had seen in the whole of the Far East.

Sundays and holidays, Saturdays and even week-days—they are all the same to Fanning. There is always some body out there enjoying a quiet round, and with the excellent tiffin, teas and dinners served out there, one does not have to worry about finishing a game in time in order to be home in time for lunch or dinner as the case may be.

It was also the occasion of a very big Sikh festival—Yes. And the likelihood of your being accosted by your Sikh brethren near steamer wharves was very small indeed—I booked my passage on Saturday at 4.45 p.m. At that time the boat was scheduled to sail the next morning at 10 o'clock—Yes.

This trip was taken for the purpose of collecting certain debts—Yes.
Here is another curious thing: it is the first time you have left the Colony for that kind of business?—It is not curious.

Who was the principal debtor you went after? Ribeiro?
Is it "O.L." or "C.A." Ribeiro?

I don't know.
You previously had recovered judgment against that man in Hongkong?—No.

Had you no other debtor whose name is Ribeiro? No.
I put it to you that in Summary Jurisdiction Action No. 2210 in 1932 you recovered judgment against C. A. Ribeiro for the sum of $111.50 and that the learned judge ordered that Ribeiro should pay $3 a month which would take the debt five years to pay off—No.

These promissory notes signed by Ribeiro which you produce are made in Hongkong? Ribeiro was a Hongkong man.
I put it to you that you intended to go to Shanghai when you left Hongkong and in order to put anybody off the scent you took the boat to Amoy and having got to Amoy you then transhipped to Shanghai?—No.
You had more shares than any

The Empress of Japan which arrived in port from Manila yesterday reported that apart from the fact that they encountered heavy seas on the voyage, there was nothing to indicate that a typhoon was forming. There was also occasional rain but otherwise the voyage was quite uneventful.

The P. & O. s.s. Carthage from London and ports was about an hour late in her arrival here. She reported a fairly heavy sea and the fact that a typhoon was "behind" her. Passengers on the liner included a number of American journalists who are on an educational tour.

other money lender in the Colony in the loan associations?—Some other persons had more.

You owe more to the "bisib" than any other shareholders?—I have drawn certain pools but some persons had more than myself.

In respect of your shares you had exercised your right to draw in every bisib of which you were a member?—No, in certain bisib, I was an undrawn member.

You left Hongkong without making any arrangement for paying your indebtedness to the bisib. That is a serious matter—is it not as it throws the whole thing out of gear?—No, I intended to pay the arrears when I came back.

Mr. Jenkin then took witness over the various sums he had drawn before he left the Colony, following which the case was adjourned until this morning.

RUBBER WINS

SINGAPORE TEST WITH UNDER SEA PIPE

SINGAPORE, Aug. 2. A Singapore experiment that may have far-reaching effects in the use of reinforced rubber for submerged pipes is described by Mr. D. J. Murnane, of the Singapore Municipal Water Department in his report for 1932. The pipe was immersed in the sea at the Cable Depot, Telok Blangah Road, in December, 1930 and when last tested in October, 1932 was found in excellent condition though other types of connecting pipes had frequently failed through the corrosive action of the sea water.

In his report Mr. D. J. Murnane states: A 12-foot length of four inch internal diameter armoured rubber pipe was specially manufactured by the Singapore Rubber Works in the year 1930 in accordance with a specification prepared by this department in consultation with the manager of the rubber works.

This pipe was connected to the town's water supply and immersed in the sea at the Cable Depot, Telok Blangah Road, on December 24, 1930, and has been under test since that date.

It has been removed for inspection on several occasions, the last being on October 18, 1932, when it was found to be in excellent condition and was tested to 100 lb. a square inch without any sign of leakage or failure.

While this rubber pipe has satisfactorily withstood the exacting conditions of being immersed in sea water on a foul bottom and being subjected to an internal pressure of approximately 45 lb. a square inch water pressure, the connecting supply pipe has frequently failed through the corrosive action of the sea water.

THE UNITED STATES NAVY

Work to Start on 21 Warships

NOT REGARDED AS NAVAL RACE

Hyde Park, N.Y., Aug. 2.—President Roosevelt to-night gave his approval to plans of the Navy Department for construction of 21 new warships in private shipyards, eliminating a threat of delay in carrying out the $233,000,000 three-year programme.

His approval signalled an immediate start on the work, providing jobs for thousands of men in government and private shipyards.

Bids Accepted

Bids for the 21 craft, part of the fleet of 37 authorized under the $3,300,000,000 public works act of the recent Congress, were opened at Wednesday and since then demands have been voiced that the bids be rejected because of prices and that the work be done entirely in government plants.

Roosevelt carefully analyzed the bids and the allotments decided on by the navy department.

Japan Also Building

The start of America's huge naval construction comes just after word from Tokyo that Japan plans to undertake a new and heavy building programme, but the prospect of a race failed to cause a ripple here or at Washington.

Asked by newspapermen about the increased Japanese naval budget, Secretary Claude Swanson said the Tokyo government was not exceeding the London naval treaty limit by the proposed programme and was entitled to build the ships if it desired.

The secretary remarked that the United States likewise had a similar right if it wished to build up to the limits of the treaty of 1930, an agreement between Great Britain, the United States and Japan.

To Treaty Limits

The new American construction programme, the largest since world war days and their aftermath, is designed both to build to the treaty limits and to provide employment.

The Japanese naval estimates submitted for the 1934 budget are the largest in history, according to dispatches, including 150,000,000 yen for new ships and 75,000,000 yen for modernization of capital craft.

For the year beginning next April the Tokyo navy ministry wants 650,000,000 yen, 30 per cent greater than the largest previous estimate, which was for the year 1931-32.

In Private Plants

New American warships, to be constructed in private plants with in three years are two aircraft carriers of 30,000 tons, one heavy cruiser of 8-inch guns and one light cruiser of 6-inch guns, eight destroyers of 1,850 tons each and seven of 1,500 tons, and two submarines. Government yards are building the other craft, mostly of secondary categories.

The Japanese plan is to provide for the construction in the next three years of two 8,500-ton six-inch gun cruisers, two 10,000-ton air-ship carriers, fourteen 1,400-ton destroyers, six submarines and one mine layer. This programme would take the Japanese navy up to the treaty limits, below which the United States has lagged.

STRAITS GOVT. ADAMANT ON SCHOOL FEES

INCREASE ONLY $12 SPREAD OVER 8 YEARS

SINGAPORE, Aug. 2. The Government refused to change its attitude over the increase in school fees at the debate on the subject at yesterday's Legislative Council meeting. It was pointed out that the policy had been laid down for some time and the actual increase for a pupil who remained at school for a period of eight years was only 12 cents a month.

Chinese Marriages. The other most important subject raised on the adjournment was the question of the Colony law as it related to Chinese marriages where a husband died intestate. New legislation was foreshadowed and it was pointed out that a great deal of expensive litigation was caused not so much by the state of the law as because of in testacy.

Dealing with the Straits Civil Service the Governor asked members to be patient and to recognise that it was only a beginning. Upon its success would depend the speed with which its scope would be enlarged in the future.

JUDGE DROPS DEAD IN ROAD

MR. JUSTICE SAWREY COOKSON'S FATAL SEIZURE

SINGAPORE, Aug. 3.

Reference to the death of Mr. Justice Sawrey Cookson was made in the Supreme Court yesterday by the Chief Justice (Sir Walter Huggard). Mr. Justice Mills and Mr. Justice Gresham were on the Bench, and there was a large assembly of members of the Bar, including the acting Attorney-General, Mr. P. A. McIlwaine, the acting Solicitor-General, Mr. J. H. Pedlow, and the acting Deputy Public Prosecutor, Mr. Bassett.

The Chief Justice said: I am sure the Bar will learn with deep regret that Mr. Justice Sawrey Cookson died suddenly at Penang yesterday afternoon. It is little more than two months since Mr. Cookson arrived in the Colony after a distinguished career in the Colonial judicial service in other parts of the Empire, and by his death the Colony has lost a very experienced and able judge. On behalf of my brother judges I desire to offer our sincere sympathy with his widow and family in their bereavement.

The acting Attorney-General, speaking for the members of the Bar, said: On behalf of the Bar I should like to associate myself and ourselves with what you have said.

A copy of the minute of the proceedings is to be sent to the widow of Mr. Justice Sawrey Cookson.

A PROSECUTION REQUESTED

THREE CHINESE EDITORS SUMMONED

When the Editors of three Chinese newspapers the Wah Kiu Yat Po, the Tin Nam Yat Po and the Trui Wah Yat Po appearing before Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy yesterday on a summons for inserting indecent advertisements which referred to venereal diseases.

Mr. Schofield asked Sub-Inspector Murphy why this sudden action had been taken?

The officer replied that a member of the public had sent the papers to the police requesting a prosecution. There was a prosecution of a similar nature last month.

Mr. F. H. Losby was for the editor of the Wah Kiu Yat Po, while the other two defendants were unrepresented.

Mr. Losby said that he was going to plead guilty. The prosecution was brought in respect of an advertisement in his client's newspaper about 'white poison,' which referred to a venereal disease.

Under the newspaper ordinance, said Mr. Losby, no advertisements of an indecent character could appear anywhere, and advertisements referring to venereal diseases could be said to be indecent. It was impossible for him not to say that these advertisements were not indecent within the meaning of the ordinance, but on the question of penalty, this ordinance was a dead letter. He suggested that a caution would meet the case, and if the police and the S.C.A. demanded that these advertisements should not appear, they would not. Each of the defendants was fined $10.
